Discover how Leicester became a multicultural city

Welcome to Walk the World! This walk in Leicester is one of a series of 20 in different parts of the UK. Each walk explores how the 206 participating nations in the London 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games have been part of the UK's history for many centuries. Along the routes you will discover evidence of how many countries have shaped our towns and cities.

Leicester in the East Midlands is one of Britain's most vibrant and multicultural cities. An estimated 40 per cent of the population were born or descend from countries overseas, particularly from South Asia, East Africa and the Caribbean.

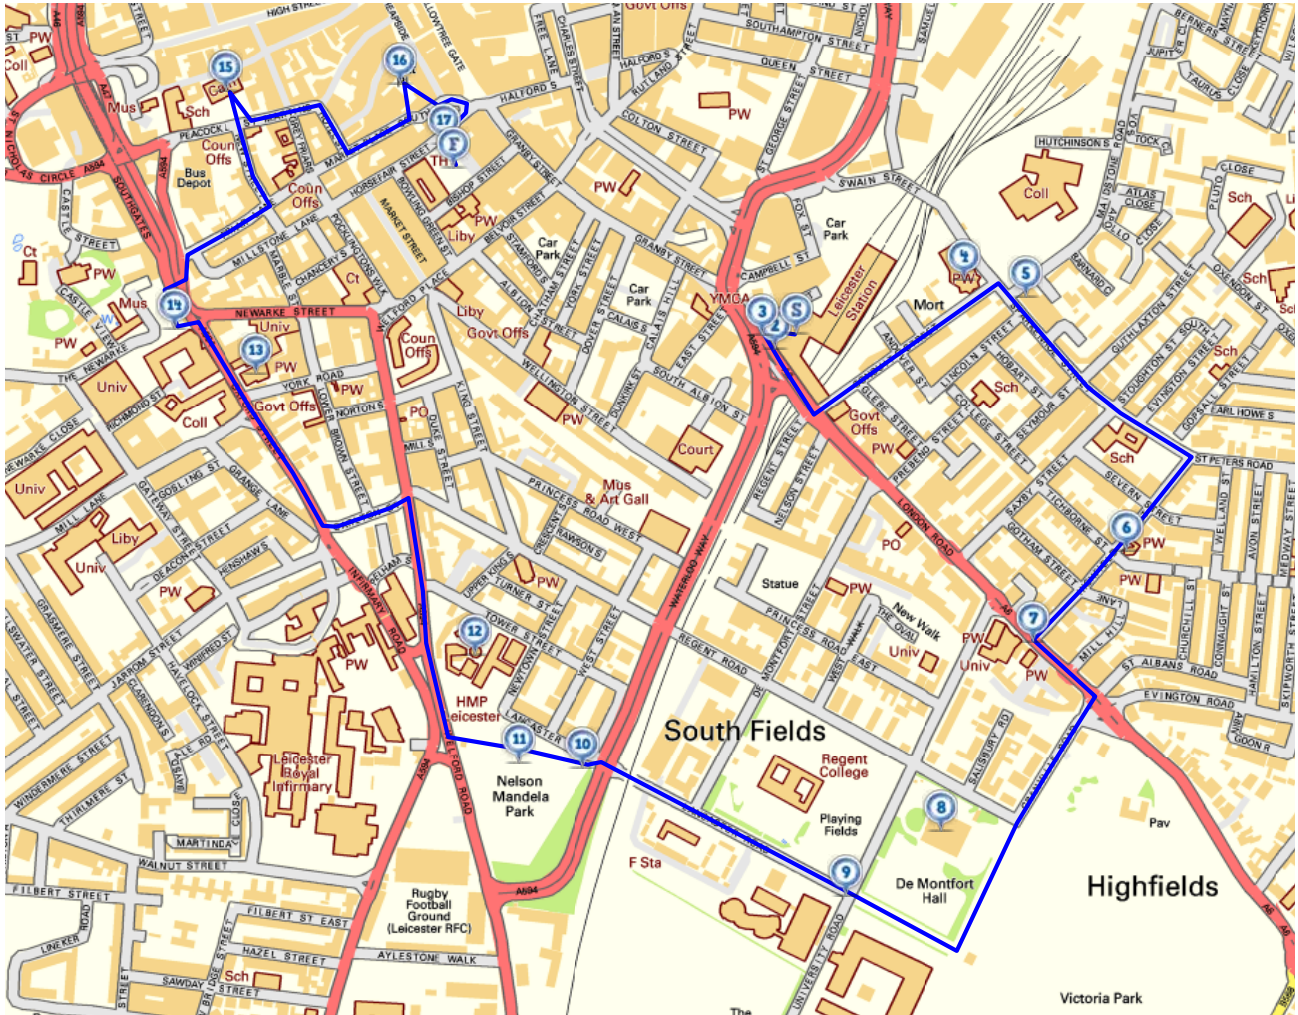

On this walk, created by local students, you can discover how people have travelled the world to live in Leicester. Visit a team of tigers, an unusual 'castle' and spectacular religious buildings. Hear about a French revolutionary, Caribbean carnivals and a South African statesman.

Leicester's motto is 'Semper Eadem' or 'Always the Same'. Yet the city is constantly changing. From the Norman conquerors who built the Cathedral to Victorian exiles from Europe to today's migrants, Leicester has welcomed people, trades and cultures from worldwide.
